32nd Annual Atlanta Enhancement Workshop

Global Development and Social Justice

March 3-8, 2019

Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program
Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University
Welcome to the Rollins School of Public Health at Emory University!

We are glad you have arrived safely in Atlanta. It is an honor to have you here with us at Emory University, and we look forward to sharing this week with you. The agenda enclosed in this packet includes a complete listing of all workshop activities, as well as activities for our 25th anniversary celebration of the Humphrey Fellowship Program at Emory University. Please make special note of the following welcome events that will kick-off the workshop:

City Tour – Sunday, March 3rd

If you RSVP’d to attend the tour, please plan on meeting in front of Villa at 1:30PM on Sunday, March 3rd. We will collect $20 in exact cash from you at that time to cover the cost of the tour and admission to the CNN Center. Please note that she will need exact change in cash.

Welcome Dinner – Sunday, March 3rd

From 6:30-8:45PM, Villa International will host a dinner to welcome all workshop participants. Please come to the main floor of Villa at 6:30PM for check-in, dinner, introductions, and announcements. All workshop participants should attend.

Workshop Location – March 4th —8th

Starting Monday, March 4th at 8:15AM, the workshop will be held on the 8th floor of the Grace Crum Rollins building in the Rita Anne Rollins Room. Check-in and a continental breakfast will be available starting at 8:15AM. Arrive on time to check in as our speakers will begin promptly at 9:00AM!

The Rollins School of Public Health (RSPH) is located at 1518 Clifton Rd. NE, Atlanta, GA 30322. From Villa, you will walk left on Clifton Road. It is a 0.5 mile walk. After you cross Houston Mill Road, RSPH is the second building on your right at 1518 Clifton Rd. Please allow 15-20 minutes to walk from Villa to Rollins. If you are not staying at Villa, please arrange transportation to RSPH (1518 Clifton Road).

Once you enter the Grace Crum Rollins (GCR) building, take the elevators to the 8th floor and follow the signs to the Rita Anne Rollins Room.

We look forward to learning with you this week.

Jimmy Carter (James Earl Carter, Jr.), 39th president of the United States, was born Oct. 1, 1924, in the small farming town of Plains, Ga., and grew up in the nearby community of Archery. His father, James Earl Carter, Sr., was a farmer and businessman; his mother, Lillian Gordy Carter, a registered nurse.

He was educated in the public school of Plains, attended Georgia Southwestern College and the Georgia Institute of Technology, and received a bachelor of science degree from the United States Naval Academy in 1946. In the Navy, he became a submariner, serving in both the Atlantic and Pacific fleets and rising to the rank of lieutenant. Chosen by Admiral Hyman Rickover for the nuclear submarine program, he was assigned to Schenectady, N.Y., where he took graduate work at Union College in reactor technology and nuclear physics, and served as senior officer of the pre-commissioning crew of the Seawolf, the second nuclear submarine.

In 1962 he won election to the Georgia Senate. He lost his first gubernatorial campaign in 1966, but won the next election, becoming Georgia's 76th governor on Jan. 12, 1971. He was the Democratic National Committee campaign chairman for the 1974 congressional and gubernatorial elections. On Dec. 12, 1974, he announced his candidacy for president of the United States. He won his party's nomination on the first ballot at the 1976 Democratic National Convention, and was elected president on Nov. 2, 1976. Jimmy Carter served as president from Jan. 20, 1977, to Jan. 20, 1981. Significant foreign policy accomplishments of his administration included the Panama Canal treaties, the Camp David Accords, the treaty of peace between Egypt and Israel, the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union, and the establishment of U.S. diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of China. He championed human rights throughout the world. On the domestic side, the administration's achievements included a comprehensive energy program conducted by a new Department of Energy; deregulation in energy, transportation, communications, and finance; major educational programs under a new Department of Education; and major environmental protection legislation, including the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act.

In 1982, he became University Distinguished Professor at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., and founded The Carter Center. Actively guided by President Carter, the nonpartisan and nonprofit Center addresses national and international issues of public policy. Carter Center staff and associates join with President Carter in efforts to resolve conflict, promote democracy, protect human rights, and prevent disease and other afflictions. The Center has spearheaded the international effort to eradicate Guinea worm disease, which is poised to be the second human disease in history to be eliminated.

On December 10, 2002, the Norwegian Nobel Committee awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 2002 to Mr. Carter “for his decades of untiring effort to find peaceful solutions to international conflicts, to advance democracy and human rights, and to promote economic and social development.”
Dr. Lonnie J. Edwards Sr. is the President of Edwards & Associates, Inc., an educational consulting firm. He has served as a senior executive in the field of education, an effective workshop presenter, and a highly sought-after motivational speaker. He works effectively with clients to identify major challenges to organizational effectiveness and solutions to address them. He is experienced in and passionate about strategies that focus on social and emotional learning, parental engagement, drop-out recovery, community/stakeholder relations, and professional and leadership development.

Dr. Edwards earned a Doctorate in School Administration and Supervision from Atlanta University, Atlanta, GA; two master’s degrees in School Administration and Physical Education as well as a bachelor’s degree in Physical Education and Psychology from the University of Montevallo, Montevallo, AL; and an Associate Degree from Coahoma Junior College, Clarksdale, MS. While working on his doctorate, he also studied at the University of West Indies.

In 2004, after 34 years, Dr. Edwards retired from the DeKalb County School System (100,000+ students) in Decatur, GA, having progressed from a classroom teacher to an Assistant Superintendent. Upon retirement, he was engaged as a consultant by the school system in White Plains, NY to assist with addressing and managing diversity issues. In 2006, he was employed by the Georgia Department of Education as a Federal Programs Specialist.

From 2008-2011, Dr. Edwards served as the Superintendent of the Jackson Public School District in Jackson, MS, with a staff of more than 5,000 employees; a student enrollment of 30,600; 63 schools; a budget in excess of $500,000,000; and a $150,000,000 Capital Improvement Program.

Dr. Edwards has received many awards and recognitions, including Atlanta’s WXIA-TV 11-Alive’s Community Service Award. He also was featured in the “Heroes for Today” section of the September 1997 issue of the Reader’s Digest.

Dr. Edwards is married to Cynthia Dorsey Edwards. They have three children and six grandchildren.

Dr. Edwards is the author of A Teacher’s Touch: Reaching Beyond Boundaries, inspired by his being featured on the Sally Jessy Raphael Show for making a difference in the life of a former student born with a physical disability.

Hubert Humphrey Fellow, Washington College of Law 2018-2019, American University darlene141023@gmail.com

Darlene Pajarito is a Public Prosecutor since 2004. She holds the distinction of securing the Philippine’s first sex trafficking conviction in 2005; and the second labor trafficking conviction in 2011. Prosecutor Pajarito trains local and international law enforcers, prosecutors, judges, journalists, social workers, labor inspectors, law practitioners, and NGO workers on trafficking in persons.

During her stint as Executive Director of the Inter-Agency Council against Trafficking (IACAT) Secretariat from 2015 to 2018, Prosecutor Pajarito was instrumental in developing several anti-trafficking policies and programs on partnerships, prevention, protection of victims, investigation, prosecution, and adjudication of TIP cases; and in synergizing 24 anti-trafficking task forces in the Philippines.

She participated in the Expert Working Group Meetings during the drafting of the ASEAN Convention on Trafficking In Persons (ACTIP), the ASEAN Plan of Action on Women and Children (APA); (ACTIP and APA took in effect in 2016).

In 2011, Prosecutor Pajarito was recognized as a “Hero Acting to End Modern Day Slavery” by former US Secretary of State Hilary R. Clinton in the US.

Currently, Prosecutor Pajarito is the Philippine National TIP Specialist and is considered one of the staunchest anti-trafficking advocates in the Philippines.
Jace Weaver, J.D., Ph.D.
Director, Institute of Native American Studies, Franklin College of Arts and Sciences, University of Georgia
Franklin Professor of Native American Studies and Religion
Adjunct Professor of Law
(706) 542-1492
jweaver@uga.edu

Jace Weaver is Director of the INAS, Franklin Professor of Native American Studies and Religion, and Adjunct Professor of Law. As director, he serves as advisor for all students in the undergraduate and graduate Native American Studies Programs. He holds two doctorates, a J.D. from Columbia Law School of Columbia University and a Ph.D. from Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Dr. Weaver's work in Native American Studies is highly interdisciplinary, though focusing primarily on three areas: religious traditions, literature, and law. He is the author or editor of thirteen books, including That the People Might Live: Native American Literatures and Native American Community, Other Words: American Indian Literature, Law, and Culture, and Turtle Goes to War: Of Military Commissions, the Constitution and American Indian Memory. American Indian Literary Nationalism, written with Robert Warrior, and Craig Womack won the 2007 Bea Medicine Award for best book in American Indian Studies from the Charles Redd Center for Western Studies and the Native American Literature Symposium. His most recent work is Red Clay, 1835: Cherokee Removal and the Meaning of Sovereignty, written with Laura Adams Weaver.

In 2014, Dr. Weaver shared the prestigious Sevenstar Award from the Cherokee National Historical Society with INAS faculty member Alfie Vick and Brett Riggs (then of the University of North Carolina) for their work in designing Diligwa, a recreation of a 1710 Cherokee town on the grounds of the Cherokee National Museum. The award honors those who help promote and preserve Cherokee culture and history. In 2011, an exhibit he co-curated at the museum on the Cherokee National Female Seminary won the Redbud Merit Award for best temporary exhibit from the Oklahoma Department of Tourism and Recreation. In 2003, Dr. Weaver won the Wordcraft Award for Best Creative Non-Fiction from the Wordcraft Circle of Native American Writers for Other Words. In 1999, he won the Portfolio Award for excellence in teaching resources from the journal Media and Methods for his book on CD-ROM, American Journey: The Native American Experience. He has been nominated for the Oklahoma and Connecticut Book Awards. He has also won four awards for his teaching at UGA.

In Other Words, Dr. Weaver has written, "Native American Studies is by its nature two things, comparative and interdisciplinary." It is this emphasis that he hopes to bring to INAS and the Native American Studies programs at UGA.

Atlanta Food Bank
cacfb.org

Every year, the Atlanta Food Bank works with more than 600 non-profit partners—including food pantries, community kitchens, childcare centers, night shelters and senior centers—to distribute over 60 million meals to more than 755,000 people in 29 counties across metro Atlanta and north Georgia. ACFB is a member of Feeding America, the nation’s leading domestic hunger-relief charity.

Food pantries, community kitchens, childcare centers, night shelters, and senior centers are among the agencies that receive product from the Food Bank. In turn, these partner agencies provide food and other critical resources for low-income Georgians who suffer from hunger and food insecurity.

The Food Bank utilizes more than 1,700 volunteers a month, over 150 staff members, a large fleet of trucks and a 129,000 square-foot facility to procure and distribute food and grocery items received from hundreds of donors. Their donors include manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, brokers, restaurants, food drives, gardens and individuals. The product is easily accessed by partner agencies. They place their orders online and arrange for pick up or delivery. Once the food arrives at the agency, it is provided to families and individuals in need.

The Center for Civil and Human Rights

The mission of The National Center for Civil and Human Rights is to empower people to take the protection of every human’s rights personally. Through sharing stories of courage and struggle around the world, The Center encourages visitors to gain a deeper understanding of the role they play in helping to protect the rights of all people.

The National Center for Civil and Human Rights harnesses Atlanta’s legacy of civil rights to strengthen the worldwide movement for human rights. Atlanta played a unique leadership role in the American Civil Rights Movement. Through harnessing Atlanta’s legacy and galvanizing the corporate, faith-based, public-sector and university communities, The Center serves as the ideal place to reflect on the past, transform the present and inspire the future.

Jimmy Carter Library and Museum

Library

Shortly after taking office as President, Jimmy Carter expressed interest in building a Presidential Library “someplace in Georgia.” The National Archives and Records Administration was invited to establish an office in the Old Executive Building to be staffed by archivists who could advise the White House staff on the preservation and arrangement of the twenty-seven million pages and other historical materials from the Carter presidency, prior to their movement to Georgia. As Carter’s presidency came to a close, a location search began for the Carter Library. After surveying a number of potential areas, today’s thirty-acre location was selected. The land, originally acquired to build an interstate highway, was owned by the state of Georgia. Ironically, the interstate plan was halted by then Governor Carter.

The facility includes the presidential library (donated to the federal government) and privately maintained spaces such as President Carter’s office, offices for foundations he supports, and The Carter Center of Emory University. Today, the Jimmy Carter Presidential Library houses 40,000,000 pages, 1,000,000 photographs, 2,200,000 feet of film, and 2,500 hours of video.

Museum

The Museum of the Jimmy Carter Library provides a unique experience for the visitor. Through immersive exhibitions of objects, documents, and photographs, videos, and beautiful gifts from world leaders, visitors can get a close-up view of the modern American Presidency.

Highlights include a life-size replica of the Oval Office, a dramatic “Day in the Life of the President” presentation on 13 ft. screens, a walk-through cabinet setting for the crucial Camp David Meetings exhibition, and an Interactive Map Table that takes you with the Carters to monitor elections and fight diseases. The Presidential Library is nestled between two lakes on 30 acres of park land and provides a tranquil setting with a view of the Atlanta skyline.

Changing exhibits are drawn from the library and museum collection or are based on themes relating to the presidency and American history.

The King Center
thekingcenter.org

Established in 1968 by Mrs. Coretta Scott King, The Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Nonviolent Social Change (“The King Center”) has been a global destination, resource center and community institution for over a quarter century. Nearly a million people each year make pilgrimage to the National Historic Site to learn, be inspired and pay their respects to Dr. King’s legacy.

Dr. & Mrs. King’s Crypt
In 1968, after he was assassinated, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was carried upon a farm wagon drawn by mules to Southview Cemetery. In 1970, Dr. King’s remains were removed from Southview Cemetery to now what is the current King Center campus, and in 2006 his crypt was rebuilt to also include the remains of Mrs. Coretta Scott King. Dr. & Mrs. King’s crypt is constructed of Georgia marble, a timeless acknowledgement of his southern roots.

The Eternal Flame
The Eternal Flame symbolizes the continuing effort to realize Dr. King’s dream of the “Beloved Community,” which was his vision for a world of justice, peace and equality for all mankind.

Freedom Hall
449 Auburn Avenue, NE
Freedom Hall is the exhibition location on campus, as well as the primary location for special events and programs. It contains a Grand Foyer, large theater/conference auditorium, Bookstore & Resource Center and various works of art from across the globe. The Grand Foyer features art from Africa and Georgia, and the paneling lining the staircase is from the sapeli tree which grows in Nigeria. At present, Freedom Hall’s second floor is utilized as exhibit space honoring Dr. and Mrs. King, Mahatma Gandhi and Rosa Parks.

Dr. King’s Birth Home
501 Auburn Avenue, NE
Martin Luther King, Jr. was born January 15, 1929 at 501 Auburn Avenue, the home of his maternal grandparents. For the next twelve years he lived here with his grandparents, parents, siblings, other family members and boarders. The home is located in the residential section of “Sweet Auburn”, the center of black Atlanta. The Birth Home of Dr. King may be visited only with a park ranger led tour, which is filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Register for the tour at the Information Desk, located in Martin Luther King, Jr. National Historic Site Visitor Center, in person upon arrival to the park. The tour is strictly limited to 15 people per tour. Tours fill up fast on weekends and holidays so plan accordingly.

Historic Ebenezer Baptist Church (Heritage Sanctuary)
407 Auburn Avenue, NE
In this sacred place were sown the seeds of greatness from which Martin Luther King, Jr. blossomed. In 1893, Dr. King’s maternal grandfather, Rev. A.D. Williams, became Ebenezer’s second pastor, eventually succeeded by Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., who served as Ebenezer’s third pastor from 1933 until his retirement in 1975. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. served as co-pastor in 1947 until he left to attend Crozer Theological Seminary in September 1948. From 1960 until his assassination in 1968, Martin Luther King, Jr. again co-pastored Ebenezer Baptist Church. In 2011, the church was restored to the 1960 – 1968 period.

“If there is dissatisfaction with the status quo, good. If there is ferment, so much the better. If there is restlessness, I am pleased. Then let there be ideas, and hard thought, and hard work. If man feels small, let man make himself bigger.”

—Hubert H. Humphrey
Special Thanks

Thank you to the Rotary Club of Emory-Clifton and the Philippine American Women’s Association of Georgia for organizing Tuesday evening’s talk and dinner with David McCleary and Atty. Darlene Pajarito.
